Lyle's M&O Levy Passes: Thank You to Our Community

Lyle School District's 2017 replacement maintenance and operations levy has passed with over 62 percent approval of the community's voters.

"#ALLmeansALL is one step closer to reality for Lyle School District's students," Superintendent Andrew Kelly commented. "The passage rate of the maintenance and operations replacement levy is a clear vote of confidence from our community in the work of the district, and we thank them." Kelly added.

Over the past five years, Lyle has been on a consistent growth trajectory to better serve its students and create more opportunities for them to succeed, both in school and in life. Based on the district's continued academic gains and overall improvement, Lyle School District received official notification from the State Superintendent of Public Instruction in Olympia last month that Lyle Middle School has been removed from the "priority" schools list.

In addition, Lyle's third, fourth and fifth grade-students made significant academic gains in both math and English language arts on the 2015-2016 statewide assessments, and their growth appears to be on a similar trajectory this year.

During the summer of 2016, the district unified all students in grades Pre-Kindergarten to 12 on the Lyle Campus. The unification has resulted in cost savings, better efficiency and increased educator collaboration, all to the benefit of the district's students. Superintendent Kelly notes that, in time, the Dallesport facility will potentially generate significant revenue for the district.

"Lyle students deserve a high-quality education that prepares them for life, college and careers," Kelly shared. "Students' education and opportunities in life should not be predicted based on zip code. In Lyle we are working to ensure that #ALLmeansALL."

"The level of support of our replacement levy shows that our community believes in the potential of our students," Kelly concluded.

State Parks

Free Days 2017

The Washington State Parks and Recreation Commission will again offer 12 free days next year, in which day-use visitors won't need a Discover Pass to visit state parks by vehicle. The "free days" for 2017 are in keeping with legislation that created the Discover Pass, a $30 annual or $10 one-day permit required on lands managed by Washington State Parks and the Washington departments of Natural Resources (DNR) and Fish & Wildlife (WDFW). The Discover Pass legislation provided that State Parks could designate up to 12 free days each year when the pass would not be required to visit state parks. The Discover Pass is still required to access lands managed by WDFW and DNR on these days. "State Parks free days are a great opportunity for those who have yet to purchase a Discover Pass to explore one of Washington's 124 state parks," said State Parks Director Don Hoch. "Then, we hope the visit will inspire people to help support their state park system by buying a pass." The 2017 State Parks free days are: Jan. 1 (Sunday) First Day Hikes; New Year's Day Jan. 15-16 (Sunday-Monday) Martin Luther King, Jr. Day March 19 (Sunday) State Park's 104th birthday April 15 (Saturday) Springtime free day April 22 (Saturday) Earth Day June 3 (Saturday) National Trails Day June 10 (Saturday) National Get Outdoors Day Aug. 25 (Friday) National Park Service 101 st Birthday Sept. 30 (Saturday) National Public Lands Day Nov. 11 (Saturday) Veterans Day Nov. 24 (Friday) Autumn free day. More information about the Discover Pass is here: <http://www.discoverpass.wa.gov>.

Community Council Corner

By Pj Sisseck

Tria Bullard, member of the Lyle School Board, spoke to us about the Levy (it has since been approved – thank you!). She also updated us on the groups using the former grade school building. The possibility of an Adult Education center was discussed. There was some damage due to a broken pipe in December, but the insurance deductible was paid, and all repairs are taken care of.

The weather and road conditions have caused school closures throughout the winter. Lyle School District has scheduled several make-up days to make up the lacking hours. The balance will be “forgiven” by the State Board of Education, as the problem was state-wide.

The Fire Department has written a letter approving development in Block C, provided the buildings have sufficient set-back from one another. The council in general wants to see a reasonable development, and will approve a new request if the following stipulations are met:

1. All is in keeping with zoning regulations, and
2. All required infrastructure (streets, fire hydrants, drainage, etc.) are in place prior to issuance of any building permits.

Darren LaCock reported on plans for the Air Show coming up the third Saturday in June. There will be air tanker demonstrations, Mustang rides ($1000 for the biggest thrill of anyone's life), and possibly a flight museum display.

Please join us for the next Council meeting on March 9th. 7pm at the Dallesport Community Center.

The speaker will be a representative from Dirt Hugger. This Dallesport company is a regional composting facility that processes yard, fruit and food waste into high quality, organic certified compost.

Solar Town Hall

Stand up for Solar Energy! Environment Oregon brings the discussion to Columbia Gorge Discovery Center, Thursday, March 16 from 6 to 8 pm. This town hall will discuss current solar efforts in the Columbia Gorge region and the importance of solar incentives for the growth of Oregon's solar industry. For more information, call 541-296-8600 x 201 or visit www.gorgediscovery.org.

Speakers will be on hand from Environment Oregon and Oregon Solar Energy Industries.

Learn about the pro-solar policies in the state legislature and talk with a representative from Oregon Solar Energy Industries Association.

Environment Oregon will present a background on the current solar incentives in place - mainly the Oregon State solar tax credits available under the Residential Energy Tax Credit program, but that is not the full story. Learn how these solar tax credits are at risk of not getting renewed in the current state legislative session. Tax credits play a crucial role in order to move forward with solar energy in Oregon. All Oregonians can make the choice to have their voices heard to state legislators through future campaign actions. Learn how you can get involved for the solar energy campaign.

This event is free. Deli sandwiches & paninis will be available for purchase, along with your choice of soft drinks, coffee, beer and wine.

Council Awards Hangar Contract

By Jesse Burkhardt

Now that the snow is finally melting, infrastructure projects are starting to come out of virtual hibernation — including a large and important one at the Columbia Gorge Regional Airport in Dallesport.

Last week, The Dalles City Council voted 4-0 to accept the low bid for construction of a 15,000-square-foot “flex hangar” at the airport.

The winning bid, for $1.87 million, came from Black Rock Construction & Development, of Moses Lake, Wash.

“We are glad to be moving forward with this project,” said Chuck Covert, one of the airport’s managers.

Council members Linda Miller, Darcy Long-Curtiss, Russ Brown and Timothy McGlothlin voted to award the contract to Black Rock. Councilor Taner Elliott recused himself because he works for an electrical contractor, East Cascade Electric, that could be a subcontractor on the airport project.

Four construction companies bid on the hangar project. The engineer’s estimate on the project was pegged at $1.85 million, very close to Black Rock’s final numbers. The highest bid came in at $2.32 million.

The airport is a joint venture between the city of The Dalles and Klickitat County, and the two entities worked with airport officials and the Mid-Columbia Economic Development District (MCEDD) to expedite the project. MCEDD lent a big assist by applying for, and receiving, a $625,000 grant to help pay for the hangar.

Amanda Hoey, executive director of MCEDD, said the grant was provided through the U.S. Department of Commerce’s Economic Development Administration (EDA).

“I am pleased to see the airport flex hangar project continue to make progress,” said Hoey. “I started working on the grant application for this project with the city of The Dalles and Klickitat County in 2014, as it was designated as a regional bi-state priority.

Building community infrastructure to support business development does take time.”

“The Dalles City Council gave us the OK Feb. 13 and Klickitat County gave us the OK Feb. 14,” Covert said. “Now EDA needs to approve and we will be ready to award the contract.”

In addition to the grant, other funding for the project includes $160,000 from Klickitat County, $60,000 from The Dalles Google Enterprise fund, and the remaining $1 million will come from a bond fund.

The new hangar will be heated to meet the requirements of airport tenant Life Flight.

Life Flight transports critically injured or ill patients by air to hospitals so they can be treated faster and more effectively, and the new heating system will allow the emergency medical team to protect its helicopters and other critical equipment during cold, snowy and rainy weather.

In addition to heating the hangar, living quarters will be built to accommodate Life Flight personnel who are on active status while waiting to respond to emergency calls.

The Dalles Mayor Steve Lawrence said he is happy that after several years of planning, the new hangar is finally ready to be built.

“It is sorely needed by Life Flight,” Lawrence said. “Construction will begin as soon as possible because we want it to be available before next winter.”

Covert explained that about half of the new hangar, 7,495 square feet, will be used by Life Flight, with the remainder available for lease by another user.

Operations at the airport have been expanding and diversifying in recent years, and the new hangar is one of the projects geared to meet increasing demand.

Airport officials pointed out that all the existing hangars are in use, and there has been a waiting list for space near the airfield.

Covert said hangar construction will start this spring and be finished later this year.

“The groundbreaking will be the day after we have all the permits and approval from the Economic Development Administration,” Covert said. “We hope to have the building completed by Sept. 15.”

Trout Laker Named County Veteran Services Officer

By Sverre Bakke

Klickitat County received 36 applications late last year for the vacant position of veteran services officer. The county’s choice, William Smith, of Trout Lake, has been on the job since Dec. 5, 2016.

Smith, 60, served in the U.S. military for 26 years and achieved the rank of sergeant. Those experiences weigh heavily in Smith’s approach to his new job of helping veterans get the assistance they’ve earned through their military service.

“I am a sergeant,” Smith said. “I care for them like I always have, to lead, communicate, support, in-spire, and yes, to heal. They have earned it.”

Smith traveled extensively during his time in the military; he said he has seen more than half the globe. He was deployed twice to the Middle East, Afghanistan, and the Sinai peninsula.

“My families’ history is very American in the traditional sense,” Smith said. “We have fought in almost every war, dating back to 625 A.D. We are Celts and have some Native American blood as well. You will find our names on the monuments inside of the Alamo.”

Smith was born in the Detroit, Mich., area, though his father’s family hails from Tennessee, via Scotland. He grew up, in part, in Europe and Africa.

His mother’s family hailed from County Cork, Ireland, and were classic Catholic IRA folks.

“We don’t like tyranny, of any kind,” Smith said.

In the true definition of his surname, “I am a Smith. We build, we repair, we construct, we forge, we preach, and we fight,” he noted. “We don’t need someone else to take care of us, or tell us what to do.”

In 1996, Smith built the High Ropes Program for The Dalles High School, and for the Oregon Army National Guard, as well. He has completed three-quarters of a bachelor’s degree in Mental Health and Social Work.

Smith is applying everything he’s learned over the years to making sure every veteran who walks through his door is treated with dignity.

“I’m not a political guy. I’m more a George Patton of sorts, so I don’t have time for people’s agendas or ambitions, if it’s outside of caring for veterans,” Smith said. “If you like me, great, but I don’t care if you do. So, the tough part is the people who want something outside of those boundaries. But be sure, I will tell you what I think, ever so diplomatically.”

The Veteran Services Officer is housed under the Klickitat County Auditor’s Office, “because the veterans funds are under custody of the auditor,” said County Auditor Brenda Sorensen.

Smith works three days a week, seven hours a day: Wednesday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., in the Adult Probation Office, in Goldendale, 509-773-2467; and Thursday and Fri-day, 8-4, in the Pioneer Center, in White Salmon, 509-493-6031.

“The dollars brought into the county, through veterans’ claims, is something I am interested in, as it is evidence of my success, and the evidence of the care provided to our veterans and their families,” said Smith.

Lyle Honors and Advanced Math (HAM) Dinner & Fundraiser March 4, 2017

The Lyle High School Honors and Advanced Math (HAM) Club will be serving up a traditional ham dinner March 4 to raise funds for their annual field trip to attend Math Day at the University of Washington (UW) in Seattle.

Dinner will be served in the Lyle School Multipurpose room from 6-8 p.m. and includes ham and scalloped potatoes, salad, roll and a drink. Tickets can be purchased from the school office, from a student or by emailing john.bister@lyleschools.org. Cost is just $12 per person, $22 for 2 people, or $10 each for groups of 3 or more. Kids 12 and under pay just $5.

Attendees will have the opportunity to bid on silent auction items -- primarily gift certificates to restaurants, including Sizzlers and Monagon's Pancake House -- during the dinner. Pies will be for sale in engraved commemorative pie pans, as well.

The HAM dinner is in its fourth year and usually takes place around the time of International Pi Day. Pi, of course, is the mathematical constant that is used to calculate the circumference of a circle. Mathematical geniuses and students around the world celebrate Pi Day on March 14, because pi starts with 3.14. There is also a lot of pie-eating (after all, pies are typically made in a circle!) on pi day.

Lyle students have attended Math Day at the UW for four years now. Lyle Secondary math teacher John Bister says students have the opportunity to see how math is used in the real world and what their world after high school might look. The field trip also exposes kids to post-secondary and trade school options, and life outside of a small town.

Twenty-seven high school students, including some Wishram students, and several chaperones will be making the trip. In the first year, only nine students participated.

In past years, students have also visited Evergreen, WSU/Vancouver, Seattle Pacific and Clover Park Technical College on their way home from the event. This year, they will come home via Snoqualmie pass and visit Perry Technical College and Heritage University in the Yakima area on their way home. Contact John Bister @ john.bister@lyleschools.org

KLASAC

The hub, KLASAC, (Klickitat/Lyle Against Substance Abuse Coalition) has a new spoke. The group met all the criteria needed for a grant to help the volunteer leaders, working closely with students in our county, to encourage non use of habit forming drugs. No surprise they have decided on the name, "Our Klickitat." Another spoke from this hub is a group of students themselves called, TADAA (Teens Against Drugs And Alcohol) This is very encouraging to know that perhaps this army will stand fast and defeat the infestation of drugs in our area. Snow Berms In Your Driveway? Volunteers Can Shovel It Away

Need to have your driveway shoveled out?

Klickitat County has a spread of organizations which can help elderly, low income, or disabled residents deal with that lurking snow berm in your driveway.

Individuals looking for assistance or wishing to volunteer their time, can call the organization in their area and have their name added to the list.

The groups provide other services as well, but partner with the Klickitat County Public Works Department to provide volunteers for snow shoveling.
